Dear Amy,

Over the years I've had many occasions to write thank you notes to people whom I've invited to be scholars-in-residence, guest lecturers, lead seminars and share Holocaust-related experiences, but there were only a few occasions where the impact of the visit was as profound as yours was this weekend. It's not hard to figure out why that was the case—your perceptive and well articulated presentation of the subjects under consideration.

And our most enjoyable jog through the streets of downtown Winchester was an unexpected treat!

So, many, many thanks for what you did here, and for who you are. The experience of all those who attended the Shabbat service where you conducted an extraordinary Installation of officers and offered the D'var Torah, or the Torah study minyan which we co-led Shabbat morning, or the Talmud study session you taught Saturday night after Havdalah, was enriched by your presence.

B'yedidut,

Rabbi Jonahan M. Brown
